Sketch:

How the sketch has changed:
1. I added the current order total to the page as it does not make sense to not tell your user the total price of the order if more than 1 product is added to the cart.
2. I added a sub-screen which shows how the page would look like if there is no item added to the cart yet.

Mockup:

How the mockup has changed:
1. I changed the column spacing among "Method", "Quantity" and "Price" to be more spread out so that it is cleaner and easier to distinguish the three options right at a glance.
2. I moved all the options that are specified by users to be in one row, so that the information hierarchy is more clear.
3. I added drop shadows to both of the buttons at the bottom of the page to better in dictate that they are interactive components that are meant to be clicked upon.
